

2027 Self-Funded Pharmacy Benefits

Site of Care

Promoting convenient, cost-effective, and accessible care for members receiving infusion drug therapy.

Value for members and employers

Site of Care is a CDPHP program that provides cost savings by transitioning members from receiving their treatment at a hospital based infusion center to having it administered in a lower-cost facility or in the member's home.

If a member is receiving an intravenous (IV) formulation of a drug that has a self-injectable formulation which costs less, a pharmacist will call the member to discuss the self-administered option and talk with the prescriber to send in the new prescription*.

Ongoing monitoring and support

Plan review	Our clinical team reviews the medication and treatment plan. If our team believes transition to infusion at home or at a lower-cost facility is appropriate, we will reach out to the member to discuss making that change.
Team collaboration	For members transitioning to an alternate site of care, our team will collaborate with the physician, member, and home infusion agency for the plan and schedule that is most convenient for the member.
Assistance	Our team will also connect members to a patient assistance program for help with out-of-pocket costs and manufacturer discounts, if available.
Plan monitoring	Our team will continually monitor for members receiving drugs at high-cost facilities and identify new opportunities based on member claims analytics.
Support & counseling	Support and counseling are available to members throughout the course of treatment. Our team reviews medications, treatments and discusses new therapies and biosimilar drugs that are available to members.
Member convenience	Our team collaborates with the physician and home infusion agencies to ensure medication can be administered in each member's home.

* Only applicable to employers that have CDPHP as their pharmacy benefit.

No upfront costs for employers, significant savings

- ▶ Our Site of Care program runs on a shared savings model for self-funded employers.
- ▶ Self-funded employers will be automatically enrolled in our voluntary Site of Care redirection program. This means that if there is an opportunity for a member to use home infusion or a lower-cost facility, that member can choose to change their site of care.
- ▶ For each transition (from a high-cost facility to a lower-cost infusion site or home, or switch to a lower-cost alternative), the employer will receive 70% of the savings. CDPHP will retain 30% of the savings for administrative fees, a maximum of $50,000 per member, per drug, per year.
- ▶ If no members in the group are transitioned to a lower-cost infusion site or home, or transitioned to a lower-cost alternative, the employer will not be charged.

Riley's story

Riley was driving 20 miles to her infusion center every month to receive Tysabri. Since this drug has restrictions on where it can be administered, she thought that she needed to stay at her facility. Our team was able to find a home infusion agency with specially certified nurses to administer this medication in the member's home, eliminating her driving time and reducing her time off work for infusions.

	Per Claim	Per Year
Cost of on-site facility administration	$15,016	$195,208
Cost of at home administration	$7,427	$96,551
Employer pays 30% of the savings	$2,277	$29,597
Employer keeps 70% of savings	$5,312	$69,060

 Based on 13 infusions per year.

Medications included in the Site of Care program

CDPHP maintains a growing, comprehensive list of over 170 maintenance injectable or infusion medications that are eligible for transition to a lower-cost facility for our voluntary program.

Examples include medications for:

- ▶ Rheumatoid arthritis
- ▶ Psoriasis
- ▶ Crohn's disease
- ▶ Ulcerative colitis
- ▶ Multiple sclerosis
- ▶ Anemia
- ▶ Osteoporosis

- ▶ Select chemotherapies

As part of the program, our team of pharmacists continuously reviews new medications and treatments that may be administered at home. When a new medication is added to the Site of Care program, our team will reach out to members that may benefit and discuss the option for administration at home.
